

.Delvis

presents

MOONROOM by Matteo Cibic: a journey beyond the ordinary.

At its Design Shanghai debut, .Delvis presented an exclusive preview of its new capsule collection MOONROOM. A new concept of “mind in Italy” marks the starting point for a creative journey exploring new horizons.

.Delvis’ capsule collections map out a journey across Italy, unique in its historical, cultural and natural wonders, and inspirations across time, thought and sentiment. This is .Delvis’ new concept of “mind in Italy”, which goes beyond the matter. In this borderless space that migrates through .Delvis’ skill, it permeates its product design, communication style and extensive knowledge of materials and design, the essence of what it means to be made in Italy.

.Delvis confirmed its collaboration with global Italian design talent Matteo Cibic for MOONROOM which encompasses 2 rooms and 10 new products. They each come to life directly out of his sketchbook packed with notes, ideas and annotations.

In the style of a painter, Matteo Cibic uses his palette to create a metaphysical, dreamlike and timeless world, an ode to carefree light design, which pays tribute to that spark of folly pushing us to dare and seek new dimensions. MOONROOM offers multiple spaces with a style and colour palette the designer defines as “futuristic ethnic vintage”. An innovative mix of warm and cold materials, and glossy and matt surfaces: a real journey into the future.

“Humanity will soon be facing long journeys into space and be able to spend time on the moon, alone or with friends”, Matteo Cibic explained when presenting the MOONROOM design project. “Wood, leather, ceramic and hand-woven threads are highly valued materials that cannot be reproduced on the moon. Their smells, organic matrix and irregular textures will help us to keep the memories of the Earth alive.

“MOONROOM is a humanistic alternative to the impersonal, minimal spaces that have dominated space exploration to this day.”

.Delvis is proud to present the first unique, luxury pieces from this original capsule collection in Shanghai. They have been created and brought to life through carefully selected and crafted materials, details and finishes, distinctive of the world of .Delvis.

Like the other .Delvis capsule collections, MOONROOM has been designed to satisfy the growing need for objects with a strong identity, offering something different. .Delvis rose to the challenge, adopting an “industrial craftsmanship” approach, by combining creativity and innovation, design quality, and research and development, with the company’s Italian origins and collections.

.Delvis

Design Shanghai

26-29 November 2020 | Shanghai World Expo Exhibition & Convention Center

Hall1 Booth L405

www.delvis.com

Info@delvis.com

